“ So well said by my sister Betty Woodard K, below, I would only add that Don graced our lives by his love and commitment to our mother, Margaret for more than twenty years. Shortly after their marriage, he drove them to Mexico where I was living, and together were witnesses at our wedding in 1996. He readily joined our extended family in frequent visits and through the happy and sad times common to us all. He and mom were a team of travelers, and spread joy, love and enthusiasm for life everywhere they went. Together, they truly lived a dream, such that it is difficult to see her now without him by her side. He was a reader, interested in current and historical matters, and was a constant learner of the world's cultures. Musically inclined, singing in their church choir, Don loved a concert, and the happy sounds of singing were never far from the two of them. We miss him already, and offer our sincere condolences to his children and grandchildren.

“ This was a man who lived every day to it's fullest. He and his wife, Margaret, traveled to more than 100 countries and he never forgot the details of any! I am not aware of any part of the US or her territories (!) that he and Mom did not visit. He was an accomplished tenor, sang in the Palm Beach Chorale; he and Mom (Margaret) were long time members of their church choir and lively attendees at their small group Community Meetings. Don had season tickets for plays, musicals, concerts, which they attended at least 2-3 times a week. He enjoyed weekly bridge games with his N. Palm Beach buddies, and always had 2-3 books he was reading in process. His generosity to charities and individuals was done quietly and thoughtfully. He loved his family, was a devoted husband and caregiver to his wife, Margaret, and counted himself blessed by friends across the country. For the 25 years of his marriage to Mom, he was an important member of our family. And we will miss him.
